"At ECS, we strive to give you the very best products at the very best prices"

We launched our 'Farmers Friend' range of robust, quality assured, environmental products for the agricultural industry in 2003 - and it has since become one of our most successful product ranges to date. Our success in this area has led to our increased focus on the agricultural sector and an expansion of our agricultural products division.

As a company with a strong agricultural customer base, we are acutely aware of the changing needs and financial demands placed on the modern agricultural community. We understand the need for high quality environmental products supplied at sensible, affordable prices.

Our dedicated team of environmental construction specialists bring over 10 years experience in the construction and civil engineering sectors, assisting farmers and agricultural contractors to develop the correct 'Farmers Friend' solution to meet their needs - full professional support is only a phone call away and that is why over 80% of our customers keep coming back and recommend us to others.

All of our products are supplied to the highest quality specifications available in the market; our commitment to maintaining competitive prices without compromising the quality of products or services supplied is fundamental to our business.

ECS... simply supplying Quality and Value without compromise

"At ECS, we strive to give you the very best products at the very best prices. We never have and never will supply goods that are not fit for the function or do not pass rigorous pre despatch quality assessments. We pride ourselves on the products we supply and the service we give and are sure that you will not be disappointed when entrusting us with your requirements." Paul Mason - Managing Director
